Excluding these additional expenses, the Property business would have reported an expense ratio of 25.7 and a combined ratio of 140.5.

²Represents catastrophe losses incurred during the period, including the impact of reinsurance, as a percent of net premiums earned. During the month we incurred catastrophe losses due to winter storms in Texas and Oregon and across the south eastern United States. In February, we recorded a $40.0 million reinsurance recoverable since incurred losses and certain allocated loss adjustment expenses (ALAE) from a single storm exceeded the $80 million retention threshold under our occurrence excess of loss reinsurance program in our Property business during the month.

³Represents adjustments solely based on our normally scheduled actuarial reviews. For our Property business, the actuarial reserving methodology includes changes to catastrophe losses, while the reviews in our vehicle businesses do not include catastrophes.

² At February 28, 2021, we had $354.4 million of net unsettled security transactions classified in "other liabilities."

Monthly Commentary

• Excluding the impact of catastrophe losses in both February 2021 and 2020, our companywide loss/LAE ratio was 1.2 points lower than February last year, in part reflecting continued lower auto accident frequency on a year-over-year basis.

Events

We plan to release March results on Thursday, April 15, 2021, before the market opens.

- impacts from the outbreak of the novel coronavirus, or COVID-19, and the restrictions put in place to help slow and/or stop the spread of the virus; and
- other matters described from time to time in our releases and publications, and in our periodic reports and other documents filed with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission, including, without limitation, the Risk Factors section of our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ending December 31, 2020.

In addition, investors should be aware that generally accepted accounting principles prescribe when a company may reserve for particular risks, including litigation exposures. Accordingly, results for a given reporting period could be significantly affected if and when we establish reserves for one or more contingencies. Also, our regular reserve reviews may result in adjustments of varying magnitude as additional information regarding claims activity becomes known. Reported results, therefore, may be volatile in certain accounting periods.
