Legrand Innovates with Anaqua's AQX IP Management Platform

French industrial group selects Anaqua software and services to streamline patent and trademark management processes

BOSTON, December 1, 2020 – Anaqua, the leading provider of innovation and intellectual property management solutions, today announced that France's Legrand, a global specialist in electrical and digital building infrastructures, will enhance its overall IP management by moving to Anaqua's AQX platform.

Legrand, an innovator and manufacturer of electrical and digital solutions for commercial, industrial, and residential markets, opted for Anaqua when replacing its previous IP management system. The company will leverage Anaqua's latest version of AQX software to streamline the entire IP management lifecycle – from idea capture through prosecution to portfolio management and monetization. The platform's fully integrated software and services will support Legrand in patent and trademark management processes globally, notably through real-time IP data analytics and forecasting capabilities.

“Legrand has found in Anaqua a customers-oriented team focused in providing adapted solutions, meeting our strategy and organization model,” said Laurent Costecalde, Head of IP for Legrand Group.

“We are excited to be working closely with Legrand to provide them with an integrated IP management system that will support and enhance their global innovation and operational excellence,” said Bob Romeo, CEO of Anaqua. “Anaqua is honored to welcome Legrand to our client community. Their joining reflects our continued growth as a global IP management provider and our industry expertise in the European region.”
