Seatankers' Expertise Will Add Value to International Seaways

		Letter to the Board of Directors of International Seaways
	Seatankers will help achieve material value creation for all shareholders of International Seaways	Urging the Board to add two new Directors and to constructively work together with the Seatankers Group with the ambition of unlocking shareholder value
		NEW YORK, May 10, 2022 (BUSINESSWIRE) – Famatown Finance Limited ("Famatown"), a company indirectly controlled by trusts settled by Mr. John Fredriksen' and a member of the Seatankers Group, which is the largest owner of shares of common stock, no par value ("Common Stock") of International Seaways, Inc. ("International Seaways") (NYSE:INSW) with ownership of approximately 16.6% of the outstanding Common Stock, has issued an open letter to the Board of Directors of International Seaways.
	Capital Allocations Decision	The full text of the letter sent to the Board of Directors of International Seaways follows:
		May 10, 2022
		Dear Board Members,
2	Debt Refinancing	The Seatankers Group holds significant interests within industries such as shipping and energy, oil services and diversified industrials. These investments include, among others, a strategic ownership position in 15 publicly listed companies where the Seatankers Group proactively works with the management team and rest of the Board with the ambition of creating shareholder value. Part of the Seatankers Group's DNA is to think and act like an investor with focus on value maximization for the shareholders at all times. Significant dividend distribution and value creation has been created through the Seatankers Group's involvement in public shipping companies over the last cycles.
		The Seatankers Group accumulated a position in International Seaways with the view of the Company representing an attractive platform with exposure to a product and crude oil transportation market which is in the early stage of a global recovery. The Company's share price and return to shareholders has for a prolonged time underperformed relative to peers. With decades of experience and network in the maritime transportation industry, the Seatankers Group is confident it could help unlock further shareholder value in International Seaways.
3		The Seatankers Group was therefore extremely disappointed with International Seaways' recent implementation of a poison pill, which was adopted without shareholder approval and without any material dialogue with the Seatankers Group. This poison pill will hinder communication with shareholders regarding strategic decisions and will not allow shareholders to realize the full value of their investment.
	Cost Reduction	The Seatankers Group's ambition with its ownership in International Seaways is still to create long-term shareholder value consistent with what it has been able to accomplish with its involvement with many other companies in the industry. To achieve this, the Seatankers Group urges International Seaways to add two new directors to its Board of Directors chosen in consultation with the Seatankers Group.
		The addition of two Seatankers Group Directors will add value to International Seaways, which includes but is not limited to:
4	Chartering	1. Capital Allocations Decision . Focus on the type, timing and amount of capital allocations, including when to focus on company growth and when to focus on return of capital to shareholders. The Seatankers Group has an outstanding track record of consistently over time making decisions with respect to capital allocations throughout the shipping cycles that are in the best interest of its portfolio companies and their respective shareholders.
		 Debt refinancing. Assist in refinancing existing debt. International Seaways has a higher financing cost than most relevant peers. The Seatankers Group has an extensive network of financing sources from which International Seaways could benefit and reduce its borrowing costs which will eventually benefit the shareholders.
		3. Cost reduction. The Seatankers Group has ownership in a shipping and offshore fleet of more than 450 units and can provide advice on initiatives to reduce the vessel operating cost (OPEX) and other larger cost items.
5	Strategic Advice	 4. Chartering. The Seatankers Group has extensive experience in deciding on the chartering strategy of large fleets and to balance spot exposure with adequate term coverage in light of where the industry is in the cycle. Strategic Advice. Provide strategic advice to help guide the future direction of International Seaways with the overall ambition of maximizing shareholder returns.

Capital Allocation at the Right Times in the Cycle: Investing

Investing when markets are in a trough with strong financial support from Seatankers

From early 2017 to 2018, Flex LNG entered into newbuilding contracts for 9 LNGCs at ~USD 180m per vessel and raised ~USD 625m in new equity, of which more than USD 200m was funded by affiliates of Seatankers

In February 2021, Golden Ocean acquired 18 dry bulk vessels from Seatankers for USD 752m and raised USD 338m in a private placement of shares to part-finance the transaction, of which affiliates of Seatankers subscribed for USD 170m

In 2012, Seatankers set up Frontline 2012 as a vehicle to invest in fuel efficient eco-design newbuildings at historically low newbuilding prices. In 2012 and 2013, the company raised ~USD 1,000m in equity, of which affiliates of Seatankers funded ~USD 300m, and contracted 60 newbuildings in the dry bulk, tanker and LPG segments

Seatankers always stays true to its capital allocation strategy, investing at optimal times in the cycle

Capital Allocation at the Right Times in the Cycle: Returns

Shareholders have reaped the rewards through a high payout ratio when markets are strong
