CreditSights Launches Covenants Product, Expands Market-Leading Offerings

NEW YORK, N.Y. (September 8, 2020) – Leading independent credit analysis firm, CreditSights, Inc. announced the launch of a new covenants product, a suite of covenant-related reports and tools available through the CreditSights portal. The addition of this product puts covenant analysis alongside CreditSights’ market-leading credit research, merging the company’s fundamental analysis and sector expertise with document analysis to provide an unrivalled view of the European High Yield credit market.

Within CreditSights Covenants, users will have access to: searchable and downloadable covenant reports tackling both the primary and secondary markets; highlighted Covenants to Watch; a covenants comparison table tool; and an interactive calculator customers can use to calculate and model secured debt capacity.

“CreditSights Covenants is an enhancement product that takes our analyses to the next level, expanding how top financial investors around the world can utilize CreditSights to assist their assessments of credit and covenant risk,” said Mark Chapman, President of CreditSights London. “There is no other company with the embedded infrastructure to provide this comprehensive approach to covenants, marrying sector expertise and legal analysis, to create a truly investor-relevant approach and cementing CreditSights’ position as a leading voice in independent credit research.”

Individual reports within CreditSights Covenants provide the data for analysts to assess the covenant risk for new issues and in the secondary market. CreditSights uses proprietary technology and highly trained analysts to quickly identify and present the risks in summary reports and tables, accessible in an easy-to-read format.
