ODRescue™ Launches a Community-Supported Naloxone Locator Map, Making It Free for States, Schools, and Businesses

TEMECULA, Calif. – (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) – ODRescue™, a program dedicated to expanding on-demand access to life-saving products and sponsored by FFF Enterprises, Inc.— the nation’s most trusted specialty drug distributor and diversified healthcare company — today announced the launch of “Locate Naloxone Now.” This publicly accessible interactive map helps individuals, families, businesses, nonprofits, and government agencies quickly and easily find and share nearby locations with access to life-saving naloxone, empowering anyone to be prepared ahead of an emergency.

Naloxone Locator Map Search Functionality

States are spending significant resources to create state-specific naloxone locator maps that enable individuals to search for sources of naloxone. In keeping with its mission to solve unmet healthcare needs, FFF created the free “Locate Naloxone Now” map to help people find naloxone for both proactive searches and acute emergency situations and is making it available to all 50 states at no charge. The public ODRescue-powered locator identifies naloxone locations, like pharmacies, public distribution sites, community clinics, and other access points.

To locate naloxone, users can search the map by ZIP code, city, current location, or by location type (e.g., pharmacy, health center, hospital, etc.) from their phone or computer. For convenience, the address, phone number, and a picture of the nearest naloxone location will populate with search results.

Emergency Medication Tracking Tool

Schools, businesses, and individuals can add and track their own naloxone locations to help expand acute access within their communities. This free web-based tool with simple barcode scanning allows organizations to track their on-hand naloxone and other emergency medications, monitor product expiration dates, and receive automatic alerts and scheduled reports — ensuring their supply remains current, compliant, and ready for use at all times.

Empowering Communities to Take Control

This naloxone locator and tracking tool was initially created to support ODRescue’s recent release of Alarm and Alert — two new on-demand toolkits equipped with alert technology to help bystanders quickly and confidently assist in an emergency when every second counts in dedicated community settings, like schools and campuses, but the company saw an opportunity to do even more good by expanding free nationwide access.
