

(Figure 1: Photograph of the Powerline showing looking southeast. Trenches are being opened immediately right of the location of the diamond core rig. The base of the conglomerate sequence is in the foreground and the top is approximately where the two white vehicles are parked along the ridgeline. True thickness of the conglomerate section is approximately 30 meters and is dipping away from the camera at about 3-4 degrees.)