Aino's HealthManager deployed for retail chain

Aino Health's SaaS solution HealthManager has been deployed for one of Finland's largest retail chains. It is a joint implementation project between the client and Aino Health, with 3,000 users.

Implementation and deployment consisted of process definition, technical IT integration, training of corporate management, and communication. Aside from Aino Health, the contract also encompasses Aino Analytics for analysis of data on sick leave and health-related processes within client operations, as a basis for improvement of corporate health care and productivity.

"We have previously shown that Aino's solutions can quickly be deployed for a client. Aino Health's SaaS solution is not only quick to implement, it also does not require high levels of involvement on the part of the management or the IT or HR departments." says Markku Pitkänen, Country Manager for Aino Health in Finland.

For the end client, one of Finland's largest retail chains, access to HealthManager means that the company gets a powerful tool for analyzing sick leave, with the goal of developing more proactive corporate health care.
