Mexico City, October 16, 2023 - To offer its customers more flight options, Aeromexico will expand its European operations in 2024, adding six weekly frequencies to Madrid and three more to Paris from Mexico City. It will meet the demand for the peak summer season and connectivity for the Paris 2024 Olympic Games.

The seasonal adjustment represents an 18% increase between Mexico and Europe, surpassing the record set by the airline in the summer of 2023. It will be the highest connectivity between Mexico and Europe in the history of Mexico's aviation with Aeromexico operating 65 weekly flights to Amsterdam, London, Madrid, Paris, and Rome.

The airline will connect with Madrid from Mexico City through 20 weekly flights, as well as from Guadalajara and Monterrey with seven frequencies per week from each city, resulting in 34 weekly flights to the Spanish capital, a 22% increase compared to the summer of 2023.

On the Mexico City - Paris route, the new flights will represent a growth of 34%, with a total of 10 weekly operations.

Giancarlo Mulinelli, Senior Vice President of Global Sales at Aeromexico commented: "Last summer, we broke the record for connectivity between Mexico and Europe, and we will do it again next summer, which also coincides with the celebration of the Olympic Games". He added: "Our Boeing 787 Dreamliner aircraft is the most modern, efficient, and comfortable, along with the best talent in the industry, helping us continue to elevate the journey to an extraordinary experience."

Aeromexico's first flight to Europe took place 60 years ago, landing in Madrid with a Douglas DC-8 aircraft, making Spain the company's gateway to the Old Continent, where it now offers direct flights to five iconic destinations and many others through its agreements with other airlines.
