2025 Winners of the 31st-Annual Eric Dostie Memorial College Scholarship Announced

TEMECULA, Calif. – (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) – Nufactor®, a specialty infusion company and subsidiary of FFF Enterprises, Inc., is pleased to announce the names of its 2025 Eric Dostie Memorial College Scholarship recipients. The annual scholarship program — now in its 31st year — grants 10 awards of $1,000 each to qualifying students affected by bleeding disorders who can best demonstrate scholastic achievement, community service, and financial need.

Congratulations to the 2025 Eric Dostie Memorial College Scholarship recipients:

- Christopher Ambrosio, Lynbrook, NY
- Emily Alvarez Huerta, Fresno, CA
- Eva Brandon-Sanchez, Lafayette, OR
- Jocelyn Doerr, Blandon, PA
- Karissa Doerr, Blandon, PA
- James Hensley, Manhattan, KS
- Luke Luckey, Manchester, MI
- Kathryn Morrison, Zelienople, PA
- Caitlyn Myers, Logan, OH
- Rose Penwell, Jenison, MI

The scholarship was created to honor the memory of 5-year-old Eric Dostie, a boy with hemophilia who was tragically murdered on August 27, 1994. Awards provide financial assistance to students who meet scholarship qualifications and who have hemophilia (or a similar bleeding disorder) and/or a family member with a bleeding disorder. Applicants submitted an essay describing how their education will be used to serve others and to encourage self-improvement and enrichment.

“We’re eternally grateful to have been able to assist in a small way by helping with educational expenses for young students living with a chronic bleeding disorder,” said Patrick M. Schmidt, chief executive officer of FFF Enterprises. “Eric’s life was tragically cut short by the fear of an economic burden on a family associated with caring for a child diagnosed with hemophilia. We hope that each of this year’s inspirational winners takes a moment to reflect on Eric’s memory, as this small blessing serves as a tribute to his legacy. May Eric’s story continue to touch us as deeply today as it did 31 years ago.”
